Grey socks?
Good idea, more time to do PE
I find it very difficult to find plain white/black trainers and the pumps are just too flimsy to wear all day. So it may be a case of the darkest looking trainers we can find.
I bought my daughter some leather trainers to wear for PE as her feet were getting cold and wet in the pumps. However, it was difficult to find girls black trainers that were not too expensive, so maybe some flexibility could be shown.
Grey socks would be useful so not buying extra socks if it's winter uniform. Can leggings be included ?
It has been tricky to get school shoes during the pandemic so some flexibility until the shops fully open would be appreciated.
Great idea, reduces the amount of lost items , more pe time, less clutter on pegs, maybe just keep a pair of pumps in school for indoor use
Great idea!
I think it will work well- children will continue to look smart and it will ensure they have more time to enjoy PE lessons.
I think it is a good idea and like the idea of it being a uniform so that children still look smart rather than just wearing any sports clothing from home.
Good idea, we fully support this.
